China Commies Near U.S. Navy Anchorage

Red Radio Says They Are 33 Mi. Away

Shanghai, May 7—(AP)—The Chinese Communists announced tonight capture of a town 33 miles north of Tsingtao in a drive aimed at that anchorage of the U. S. western Pacific fleet.

The Communists, in a broadcast from Peiping, also reported capture of the last two Nationalist holdout cities in the north on the Peiping-Hankow railway and declared:

"Now all North China is liberated."

Actually, Tsingtao and the far Northwestern provinces remain in Nationalist hands.

Attacks Repelled

The Shanghai Nationalist garrison reported continuing Red pressure on the outer defenses of Shanghai but said all attacks were repelled in sharp fighting.

(As heard in San Francisco by the Associated Press, the Red broadcast also announced a further 17-mile advance southward in the main Communist drive into South China, now nearly 200 miles south of the Yangtze river.)

The Communist broadcast on Tsingtao said only:

"On the East Shantung (Province) front, the Red army attacking the Tsimso-Tsingtao outer defense captured Linhsan, ten miles north of Tsimso."

It did not mention the U.S. fleet or give the date of this flareup on a front that has been idle for many months.

On May 3 the U.S. Navy reported its main Western Pacific force was anchored in the open sea outside Tsingtao, not at its former stations within the inner harbor. (The Navy previously had quit its shore installations and billets at Tsingtao.)

Cruisers and Destroyers

The warships off Tsingtao were listed as the light cruisers Pasadena and Springfield and ten destroyers.

Also last reported off Tsingtao were the Eldorado, flagship of Vice Adm. Oscar C. Badger, fleet commander, and the transport Chilton, with about 700 marines aboard. The Navy also has three Martin Mariner seaplanes at Tsingtao.

The Navy has frequently reiterated its intention to avoid becoming embroiled in the Chinese Civil War.

The Shanghai garrison communiqué said 10,000 Reds attacked Kunshan, 35 miles west of Shanghai, but were driven back after an 8-hour fight that ended late Friday night. It said 5,000 Reds were hurled back from Tanchang, 30 miles northwest of Shanghai.

It also said Red attackers were driven back from the Kashing airfield, 62 miles southwest of Shanghai.

However, trains from Shanghai were running only as far as Kashing, 10 miles north of Kashing.

The garrison reported the Red force which three days earlier took Hangchow, seaport and rail center 121 miles southwest of Shanghai, apparently was moving on southward.

On the north, the Peiping broadcaster said Siansi and Anyang, "the last two isolated Kuomintang Nationalist strongholds in North China" had finally fallen on Thursday and Friday.

Philippines Blame Quezon Incident On Commie 'Huks'

Manila, May 7—(AP)—No country in Asia has a lower regard for Communism at this moment than the Philippines.

Public opinion has flamed against the Reds as a result of the Quezon massacre of April 28.

That machine gun ambush killed 12 persons, including the widow, daughter and son-in-law of the Philippines' revered first president, Manuel Quezon.

It also struck a mortal blow to Communist hopes of winning the sympathy of the great bulk of Filipino workers.

Evidently realizing this, Communist Luis Taruc, leader of the rebel army of Huks, telegraphed a letter to Manila newspapers denying that his forces plotted the ambush and threatening punishment of any of his followers who were guilty.

The government, however, has firmly attributed the slaughter to Taruc's "Huks" and has started a war of extermination against them.

Retires After 50 Years

Omaha, May 7—(AP)—Harvey E. Newbranch, 74, is retiring as editor in chief of the Omaha World-Herald tomorrow after more than 50 years of service to the newspaper.

Walter E. Christensen, editor, will take the place of Newbranch as editor in chief, the paper said.

Dutch, Indonesians Agree To Compromise

Batavia, Java, May 7—(AP)—The Dutch and Indonesian Republics agreed today to a compromise program today to settle the Indonesian problem.

The Indonesians agreed to order a stop to Guerrilla warfare estimated to be taking 100 lives daily.

The Dutch agreed to reestablish the Indonesian Republic in its Javanese capital, the residency of Jogjakarta, an area 40 miles across.

As soon as the Republic is reestablished, the Indonesians said they would participate in a round table conference at the Hague for the purpose of speeding the "unconditional transfer of real and complete sovereignty" to a United States of Indonesia.

The Dutch on Feb. 2 set mid-summer as a time target for the transfer of sovereignty. But today's agreement was nearly two months behind the Dutch schedule. The transfer would be accomplished by the simultaneous creation of a union in which the Dutch Kingdom and the U.S. of I. would be equal partners under the Dutch crown.

The compromise was reached under auspices of the United Nations commission on Indonesia which has been steering informal talks between the parties here for the past two weeks.

Merle Cochran of the United States, this week's chairman of the three-man commission, congratulated Dr. Jan. Herman Van Royen of the Netherlands, and Mohammed Rum, chairman of the Indonesian delegation, on their agreement. The other two members of the commission are from Belgium and Australia.

In the final give and take, the Dutch gave way on their plan to restrict the restored Republic to the city of Jogjakarta and its immediate suburbs. The residency of Jogjakarta, over which they will recognize the free exercise of the Republic's functions, is the same territory as the hereditary sultanate of Jogjakarta. The Sultan is pro-Republic.

Schroeder and a group of other officials from the U. S. Bureau of Mines were here today on the way to Louisiana, Mo., where the secretary of the interior, Julius A. Krug will dedicate two coal-to-oil demonstration plants tomorrow.

At a news conference today Schroeder emphasized that private enterprise should get busy and build coal-to-oil plants, possibly with financial aid from the government.

They could make use of methods proved in the demonstration plants already in production at Louisiana.

He said that because of an increasing demand for petroleum products, and a decreasing supply, "we believe the first true domestic petroleum shortages will appear in about the middle of the 1950's."

61 Radio Stations Used To Break Red Jamming In Russia

London, May 7—(AP)—By sheer force of numbers, British and American radio stations fired their Russian language broadcasts through a jamming curtain into the Soviet Union today, the British broadcasting corporation declared.

About one-fourth of the 61 stations joining in the unprecedented peace-time propaganda campaign got through "a completely clear interference," a BBC spokesman said.

About a third of the others were clear at the start, but ran into a wall of noise at some time, he added.

By coincidence, the breakthrough attempt began when Russia was celebrating "Radio Day," the day she declares a Russian first demonstrated radio reception in 1895.

Western historians generally credit an Italian, Guglielmo Marconi, with the invention.

The BBS and George V. Allen, U.S. assistant secretary of state in Washington, announced yesterday they were starting a campaign to break through a set of "very powerful jamming stations." They said the Russians have been trying to prevent British and American broadcasts from being heard by the Russian people. Heavy jamming started April 24, just before the first news of negotiations to end the Berlin blockade.

At 65 Truman Is Described By Doc As 'An Iron Man'

Washington May 7—(P)—President Truman was described on the eve of his 65th birthday tonight as virtually "an iron man."

The man who said so is the White House physician, Brig. Gen. Wallace Graham.

Graham says the president every day. He makes tests of every description and never hesitates to poke a needle into his distinguished patient for health's sake.

"The president is as close to being an iron man as anyone I know at his age," Dr. Graham said. "He has a splendid constitution."

However, Graham is not completely satisfied.

"The president works too hard," he said.

Graham would not say so to newsmen, but the president himself says Graham complains he has too much of a front and ought to lose weight.

Mr. Truman told reporters recently that he weighed 178 lbs. 11 more than when he entered the White House four years ago.

Cross Says Higher Gas Tax Shouldn't Raise Price Of Gas

Springfield, Ill., May 7—(P)—A group backing a ricelet gasoline tax in Illinois questioned today whether a proposed two cents a gallon state tax increase would result in a corresponding price rise.

The legislature is considering bills to add two cents a gallon to the present three cent motor fuel levy.

President Hugh Cross of the Good Roads Association, Inc., said a survey by the U. S. Public Roads administration showed that 16 states with higher gasoline taxes than Illinois had lower retail gas prices.

"Illinois, one of the foremost oil producing states," Cross said in a statement, "pays more per gallon with a three cent tax than motorists in Maine, which has a six cent tax."

He said despite Maryland's five cent levy gasoline is cheaper there than in Illinois.

Cross, a former Republican lieutenant governor and chairman of the legislative commission recommending the two cent gas tax boost, quoted other data from the federal study, and said:

"It seems apparent from these figures that increased state gasoline taxes do not mean higher retail prices."

500,000 Landlords Take Steps To Hike Rents Of Tenants

Washington, May 7—(P)—At least 500,000 landlords already have taken the first steps toward seeking higher rent returns under the new control act, the federal housing expediter's office reported today.

That many have taken out official blanks on which to petition for a rent increase as provided under the "fair rent operating income" formula released only last Monday. The government is printing an additional 400,000 forms.

But federal rent officials pointed out that this stampede to obtain the legal forms does not mean a broad-scale lifting rent ceilings, because each landlord's petition will be handled separately for approval or rejection.

They attributed the rush to the fact that if a rent boost is approved it is retroactive to the date the landlord's petition, so the earlier he gets his document registered, the more money he stands to make.

Groans Of White House Reproduced By Hearing Device

Washington, May 7—(P)—The White House aches in every joint. Why, it's even been heard groaning.

This is no gag. The groans were picked up by a super-sensitive gadget developed by the Naval Research Laboratory. It's so sensitive that the Navy can detect minute flaws in machinery merely by listening to it.

Well, radio station WTOP here was planning a weekly program on the non-political goings-on in Washington.

Someone recalled that architects who look at the White House's ancient bones are always surprised that she hasn't caved in, like the one-hoss shay. Someone else remembered the Navy's gadget.

So the gadget was toted into the White House, a recording was made and reporters were invited in to hear the results.

The results were pretty gruesome. The White House is carrying on something awful.

BOY EXPLAINS WHY RATTLER BIT HIM

Los Angeles, May 7—(AP)—A rattlesnake bit 16-year-old Dave Franklin today.

Dave, who is recovering, identified himself as an amateur herpetologist. He said he had "a lot to do" in a short time.

Staffs of the western military governments already have started the machinery to move traffic when the Russians lift their blockade of western Berlin next Thursday, May 12.

The AP Looks In On Medal Of Honor Winners On Fourth Anniversary Of Victory In Europe

By The Associated Press

May 8, 1945... And the thunder over Europe ceased. The long-awaited VE-Day was proclaimed and the largest military force ever assembled under the American flag looked homeward.

The Atlantic struggle was principally an army show, fought by ground troops and the air forces, just as the Pacific war and VJ-Day were to bring new glories to the navy.

The European war was a cross section of the United States, the mechanics, tellers, and clerks of the land. Bravery was their common spirit, and some achieved the highest recognition of battle accomplishment—the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Now, four years after, the fighters have disappeared into the anonymity of civilian life.

From war department annals, the soldiers whose cases I have handled, Bertoldo's VA supervisors say he is doing a fine job and gets along well with veterans whose cases he helps adjust.

Although many veterans spot the Medal of Honor rosette he wears in his lapel, the public on the whole is unaware of his record. He is happily married.

Pfc. Mike Colalillo, 109th Infantry Division, won his medal for meritorious action near Untergrödenheim, Germany, April 7, 1945. He formed a one-man spearhead for his unit and killed 25 Germans in bitter fighting atop a tank and on foot.

Today he is employed by the San Francisco Veterans Administration office, investigating claims for compensation, and helping veterans get their claims adjusted.

"It's gratifying work," Bertoldo said. "I get a lot of letters from ex-

Union leaders of 65,000 striking Ford workers today accepted the invitation of Dearborn, Mich., Mayor Orville L. Hubbard to talk peace terms with management in his office.

The company has not yet replied to the invitation for a conference next Thursday. However, Henry Ford II issued a statement blasting the walkout as "particularly bad because it is unnecessary."

Ford emphasized his company's willingness to negotiate or arbitrate the speed-up charge by the CIO United Auto Workers which brought on the walkout Thursday noon.

But, he said, the company "now and always" will maintain its right under the company-union contract "to establish work standards which will assure efficient operation without impairing in any way the health or safety of our employees."

Ford said thousands of persons were "unjustly penalized" by the strike at the River Rouge and Lincoln-Mercury plants.

Meanwhile, strike effects began spreading. A Cleveland supplier of the company laid off 2,000 men. Ford, itself, planned to lay off 8,000 men at various assembly plants. A Detroit supplier is expected to close next week, stopping work for 7,000 men.

A speed-up charge spurred UAW workers on the assembly lines at Chevrolet in Flint, Mich., to vote a strike, 516 to 17. Strike action there, as at Ford, requires approval of the UAW International. At Detroit, a union spokesman said he felt the dispute could be settled without a walkout.

Speed-up was one of the union arguments behind the strike of 7,500 UAW members at Bendix Aviation Corp., South Bend, Ind.

Trans-Jordan King Includes Part Of Palestine In Reign

Amman, Trans-Jordan, May 7—(P)—Three Palestine Arabs became ministers of the Trans-Jordan government today, emphasizing King Abdullah's claim to territories west of the Jordan.

A royal decree read in parliament approved the formation of a new cabinet, including the Palestinians, under Premier Tewfik El Huda Pash. The reorganization was ordered by Abdullah May 3.

The ministry of the exterior (foreign affairs) went to one of the newcomers, Rouhi Abdi Hadi. He formerly was assistant secretary in the Palestine government under the British mandate.

The other Palestine Arabs were Mousa Naser, assigned to communications, and Khalousi El Kheiri, named minister for agriculture and commerce. El Kheiri formerly was a district officer at Jaffa.

Annexation of some Palestine Arab territories is regarded in Amman as already an accomplished fact.

Boy's Easter Wish Comes True As His Mother Returns

Pittsburgh, May 7—(P)—Andy Tompos, Jr., has found his mother. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, to whom Andy directed his wishful plea for a mother because "everybody who has a mother has good luck," today wrote a happy ending to the tale.

His mother disappeared five years ago. Andy had been living with the grandparents since. His father had vanished before he was born.

But Andy not only has a mother now, but a father and a 21 year-old brother. The little boy who worried what would become of him when his aged grandparents die doesn't have to worry any more.

Andy's desire to find his mother as "an Easter present" came to light on Palm Sunday. He was disappointed on Easter, but the eve of Mother's Day finds the ten-year-old lad's dream belatedly come true.

The newspaper's story of Andy's reunion with his mother bore no headline. Where she lives, what her new married name is, will remain untold. It will be easier that way for Andy to begin his new life.

Buck The Beaver Loses 12-Day Bout With Game Warden

Minneapolis, May 7—(P)—Buck the Beaver won eleven rounds in his bout with a game warden but still lost the decision in the 12th.

Buck dammed up Nine Mile creek near suburban Bloomington as fast as his barrier was opened up. The deep pool he created presented a hazard for the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lukach.

Lukach, unable to discourage Buck into a change of residence, as he had done several other members of the beaver colony, called for help.

Game Warden Bill Juberian set a cage trap. Ten nights in a row Buck's fancy footwork took him safely around it. The eleventh night Juberian set the trap so Buck just had to walk into it. But Buck sprang it with a sapling.

Juberian sparred for an opening. He set the trap in a stack of saplings—Buck's supply depot. It was the Sunday punch and Buck walked into it. Today he was turned loose in nearby Minnesota river.

ROBBERS BEAT WOMAN, TAKE $12,000 IN CASH

Kankakee, Ill., May 7—(P)—Mrs. Patsy Brizgis, 48, of Momence, Ill., reported to the sheriff's office today that two robbers beat her last night and escaped with $12,000 in cash which she had hidden in a closet in her home.

Mrs. Brizgis said her husband, Tony, who formerly operated a tavern at 62 E. 103rd street, Chicago, was working in their garden while the robbery was in progress. Brizgis said he had intended to bank the money next week.

The couple moved into the Momence home Wednesday.

Bevin Optimistic Over Agreement Of West Russia

Berlin, May 7—(P)—British Foreign Secretary Bevin voiced optimism today for a successful agreement with the Russians on the German problem.

"We have had enough quarrelling and now we all want peace," Bevin said upon his arrival for weekend conferences with British and German officials.

The Briton will sit with foreign ministers of Russia, the United States and France in Paris May 23 and obviously intended to collect here as much first-hand knowledge of the German situation as possible. He said he had "a lot to do" in a short time.

Staffs of the western military governments already have started the machinery to move traffic when the Russians lift their blockade of western Berlin next Thursday, May 12.

Use Two Brushes, Stiff and Soft, To Shine Up Hair

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

Try the two-brush technique of enhancing luster if you want a close-cropped hair-do to make up in gleam what it lacks in length.

To the strokes of a short, stiff bristled brush that most girls seem to favor for a brisk workout, add polishing strokes with a brush having longer, softer bristles. One brush will stimulate the circulation of the scalp and strip hair of soil. The other will work like a polishing cloth to put a shine on hair.

If you want to try out the method, grip your stiff-bristled brush in one hand, your brush of softer bristle in the other. Alternately stroke hair with first one brush, then the other. You'll know that the stiffer bristles are penetrating to the scalp when it begins to tingle. The test of efficiency of the "polishing" brush is a satiny sheen after you've given your hair the traditional 100 strokes.

This model gives her hair double action brushing by wielding in one hand a stiff-bristled brush to whip up scalp circulation; in other hand a long-bristled brush to polish strands.

Adult Strategy Helps Teen-Ager

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

The teen-ager who complains that her parents treat her like a child usually has only herself to blame. Better than sulking or moaning about supposed injustices is to prove by your actions that you are mature enough to be entrusted with responsibility.

For example, if you want to pick out your own clothes, present your case convincingly. Before you ask for a clothes allowance, go window shopping and make inquiries as to quality of fabric and price of garments. Compare prices of the best-looking candidates for your wardrobe. Base your choice of possible purchases on styles that are good fashion and which will offer you more usefulness than one season's wear.

That done, you can sit down with your parents and explain as convincingly as any grownup what you need and why, and how much it will cost. You can also explain how you can stretch your dollars by buying a few new things that will give fresh style appeal to last year's clothes.

With the facts on prices and fashions at your fingertips, you'll find that Mom and Dad will be more amenable to a personal allowance. You are apt to be greeted with a much better response than if you voiced wishful desires for fashions which are unsuitable for a young girl or too far out of reach of a limited allowance.

NEIGHBORS HELP GREENE CO. MAN WITH FARM TASKS

Carrollton—John Hillis, a farmer on the farm of Miss Sara Pinkerton, has reason to believe in the essential kindness and goodness of his fellow farmers, as a group of them spent Tuesday at his farm and put in 150 acres of grain.

Thirty-five tractors were used in the preparing and seeding the ground. The wives of the men met at the Hillis home and prepared a basket dinner at noon.

Hillis has been in ill health for several months and his farm work has been increasingly difficult for him.

Winnebago F.H.A. Tour Includes Visit To City

By Mari Kaler

Several Jacksonville institutions were visited by the Winnebago chapter of Future Homemakers of America on its three-day educational tour of central Illinois.

For the teacher, Mrs. Lucille Foltzler, the stop at Jacksonville held special significance, since Mrs. Foltzler is a former local girl, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danie, Dietrick, rural route two, Chapin.

The group left Winnebago at 4 o'clock Friday morning, arriving in Jacksonville shortly before noon. Friday's itinerary included tours through the Illinois School for the Blind, the Illinois School for the Deaf and the Jacksonville State hospital.

Tour Journal Courier

On Saturday morning the group was conducted on a tour through the various departments of the Journal Courier.

From here the group moved on to Springfield, where they visited the governor's mansion, the capitol building, the state library and museum and Lincoln's home and tomb.

A visit to New Salem to view the many points of interest there will conclude the tour.

Twenty of the 28 members in the chapter, their teacher, Mrs. Foltzler, and her small daughter, Sharon, whom Mrs. Foltzler asserts is also a "future homemaker," and two chaperones, Mrs. Esther Orr and Mrs. Lyman Gilliland, comprised the group.

Financed by Chapter

The trip was made by school bus, driven by the regular driver, George Frink, and was financed by the chapter itself with funds raised through various activities sponsored by the chapter during the school year.

The home economics department at Winnebago is comparatively new and was brought about largely through the efforts of Mrs. Foltzler.

The department contains two unit kitchens, a nursery nook, a first aid room where home nursing is taught, a living center, a laundry room, and in short, just about everything a modern, fully-equipped home would have.

Homemaking All Important

Homemaking is the all-important thing, and all phases of it are taught by Mrs. Foltzler, including foods and nutrition, textiles, clothing, child care, family relationships, home management, consumer buying, interior decoration and home planning.

Mrs. Foltzler has taught at Winnebago for six years. Prior to her marriage to Fred Foltzler she taught at Pleasant Hill, in Pike county, for two years.

She was educated in the Chapin High school, later attending Illinois College. She did graduate work at Carthage college and post-graduate work at the University of Minnesota.

That her courses are exceedingly popular is witnessed by the fact that more than 50 per cent of all the girls who are students at Winnebago High school are enrolled in her classes.

Objective Better Homemakers

A large number of the girls are also members of the F.H.A. chapter, which is under Mrs. Foltzler's direction. The chapter's activities are directed towards making better homemakers of the girls.

The theme of this year's work is "Peace Through Understanding." In line with this the home and family life of a foreign country is studied at each meeting.

The girls are also alert as to the needs of their own community and each year make numerous articles which are sent to the children's home at nearby Rockford. They also sponsor various activities to finance the projects they promote.

One of the activities to which the girls eagerly look forward is the annual tour. Besides the educational aspect, the girls thoroughly enjoy these trips and oftentimes become interested in a line of work they later follow up.

Junior Walther League To Give Variety Show

The Junior Walther League of Salem Lutheran church will present its second annual variety show, "Tulip Time," in the church hall on Monday and Tuesday, May 9 and 10, at 7:30 p. m.

The program will include piano solos by Bertha Nelson; accordion solos by Joan Wahl; a magician's act by Earl Lovell and Darrell Roegge; one-act play, Barbara Davidmeyer; Alleane Roegge, Donald Hess, James Perib, Sally Davidmeyer and Darrell Roegge; a skit, Mary Horn, Betty Korsmeyer and Mildred Klinkermann; and a vocal duet by Mildred Klinkermann and Sally Davidmeyer.

Special features will be "The Tulip Time Trop" and "The Waltherettes." Tickets may be obtained at the door.

According to the Twentieth Century Fund, large corporations usually make profits at a lower rate than small ones but they also lose money at a lower rate.

BLUEPRINT FOR BEAUTY Patchy Manicure Depresses Morale

By Alicia Hart
NEA Staff Writer

There are many telltale signs that a woman's good grooming suffers from neglect, but the most gossipy indication is apt to be a rundown manicure.

Besides stamping a woman as looking unkempt, a set of frayed and patchily-polished nails always seem to have a depressing effect upon her morale. The minute she can cast an appreciative glance over impeccably gleaming nails, her morale begins to go up like the graph of a sales chart during a peak season.

Keeping nails looking impeccable is very little trouble if a woman gives her manicure a daily inspection and a bit of renewing care. In that routine of care, cuticles should be given a push every time hands are towed dry. This will keep polish and ovals free of the overgrowth that is constantly trying to close in on nails.

The sprouting of a hangnail is an occasion for hauling out snippers which should be used while these callouses are still soft from a scrubbing of hands. When polish begins to break down, new coats should be applied. Patchwork with polish is all right to use in an emergency, but patchwork is never a substitute for brand-new luster coats because there is always a discrepancy between the old application and the new.

The first life insurance policy on record was issued in England in 1583.

The town of Medora, N. D., was founded by a Frenchman, the Marquis de Mores, who named the site after his wife.

Hat Trims Make New Neckwear

Roses, ribbons and other trimmings snipped off dated hats by New York singing star Lorraine Browning (above) are put to new use as neckwear. Pink silk rose brightens white ascot (top right). Velvet leaves are used to ornament string of pearls (bottom right).

Snip off those French silk roses, violets, velvet leaves and good millinery ribbons from dated hats before you discard them and put those choice millinery trimmings to new use as smart neckwear.

Tuck the colorful silk rose which is worth salvaging into a velvet ribbon neckerchief which you tie at the opening of a collar. Or pin the rose to a fur scarf or to a white pique ascot.

Crushed roses or violets snipped from an old hat can be freshened up by fingering petals over a kettle's well-spaced intervals.

Since millinery ribbons are apt to be good ribbons, they are well worth salvaging from old hats. These can be freshened up by pressing with a hot iron shielded by a slightly damp cloth placed over the ribbon, and can be used as hair ribbons and ribbons to lace through eyleted necklines and petticoat flounces. Little odds and ends of ribbons released from millinery bows and fancy loops can be used to tie these, one at a time, by their individual wires to a string of pearls. Attach velvet leaves to necktie at fasteners. So think before discarding old hats.

Boyle's Column Every Day Is Mother's Day

By Hal Boyle

Detroit—P.—There is a Mother's Day, and there are days that mothers remember.

And there aren't at all necessarily the same days.

This is why it is so hard to arbitrarily pick a day to honor mothers.

Because the day that you most honored your mother wasn't necessarily a certain Sunday in May. The day she remembers you most for is the day she bore you.

A son who has been successful from the world's point of view would also like to think his mother remembered him from the day he did something that made him famous with the neighbors. She does, of course.

But that isn't necessarily the day he honors her most. It might much more have been a day years before when, in response to her teaching or her yearning, he made a decision that changed his life in a manner that shaped it in the way she wanted him to go.

I am not too sure how girl children feel about their mothers. Nor am I sure about how mothers feel about girl children. I think that generally, however, girl children are much more loyal and soft hearted toward mothers than mothers are to them.

Appreciate Their Problems

Once girl children have gone through parenthood themselves they are very likely to realize the problems of their own mothers. And they are more likely to appreciate them.

I think it is very normal for a son to be favored by his mother yet himself to want most to impress his father. And it is equally normal for a daughter to be idolized by her father and yet to ache from her heart to win admiration from her mother, sometimes jealous mother.

The newer psychology says fathers are fondest of their daughters and mothers of their sons. And that sons turn most to their mothers for love and daughters to their fathers. But while this may be essentially true, it is a one-sided view of real family relationships.

A real son, loved as he is by his mother, turns inevitably to his father, the man he wants to equal or better. And the daughter, apple of her father's eye, similarly will break her heart to win her mother's love. Because, finally, her basic problem in life is the same as her mother's was—to bend a strange creature, man, to her will.

Motherhood A Strange Industry

Motherhood is the strangest industry on earth. It is based on responsibility that demands no reward.

A father often loves himself in the world and its problems, or tries to. This is harder for a woman. Whether her children are present or absent, each day she thinks of them individually. And their problems are her chief problems.

A man likes to flatter himself when he makes his own mark in the world, a woman is smarter. She knows that a seed pod is more than any one plant. She realizes that her weapon for renown is posterity—her children.

Woman is the true Phoenix. She is born and reborn, dies and lives, flames or falls as her offspring do. She is the future's assembly line, and without her there would be no future. And she knows it.

On mother's day we only formalize what woman is doing all the time—lighting another candle to life. And each man hopes his own mother never regrets she didn't blow his out the hour it flared.

Plan Mother And Daughter Event At Winchester

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Winchester Methodist church met May 6 with Mrs. Geo. Cowhick as hostess. There were 31 members present. Mrs. Monroe joined the society.

The meeting opened with the worship service led by Mrs. Clyde Baird, the topic being, "By His Light We Walk Together."

Mrs. Wild, the chairman, presided over the business meeting. Several items of interest were taken in order.

The society is sponsoring a Mother and Daughter banquet on May 16. Mrs. Clyde North was elected as a delegate to the Society's School of Missions to be held on Wesleyan campus in Bloomington from June 20 to 25.

The lesson was given by the following officers taking part: Mrs. Edw. Wild, president; Mrs. Ralph Riggs, secretary of Spiritual Life; Mrs. Frieda Bolke acting as Sec. of Christian Social Relations and of local church activities; Mrs. Otto Henry acting as Sec. of Missionary Education and Mrs. Clyde Banford, treasurer.

Meeting adjourned for a social period. Assisting the hostess were Mesdames Richard Coultas, Russell Forshey, E. H. Brockhouse, J. Y. Burbank and Richard Cowhick.

Cotton-Picking Brides:

Chic Pique and Frilly Organdy Gowns Are Ready to Promenade to the Wedding March

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The cotton-picking bride has a choice of gowns which ranges from quietly-styled pique to picture-book organdies.

The pique wedding gown will make up in chic what it lacks in frills. Not to be outdone by the traditional do-do of the sheer wedding dress, a pique gown may trail a wondrous train and demand a bouquet of roses and an illusion veil.

Restrained treatment is used to give the full-skirted and trailing gown of Filo's design (left) its unusual distinctions. White organdy appliques are inset into the skirt and into the off-shouldered collar which softens the severity of a simply-styled, long-sleeved bodice.

Where frills are demanded, cloud-like organdy, is ready to oblige. As breath-taking as billowing lace, marquisette or net, formally-styled organdy gowns are designed to make the bride a vision in white who can carpet a chapel or church aisle with an impressive train. One of Murray Hamburger's design (right) combines plain organdy which makes a full skirt flounce and a sweeping train with eyeleted embroidery used for lace details. The petal-scaled embroidery makes a collar, an apron front, and ruffles angled from collar to flounce.

NEA Fashion Editor.

ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

THE STORY: Four lonely women, selected through a matrimonial club, are candidates for bride of Henry Gough Harding, wealthy, middle-aged, eccentric master of Spanish Island. On arrival, Bea Congrove, one of the women, finds the place far from being a paradise. There is trouble with some fishermen who come to the island for water, which Harding gives them in rationed amounts. Finally, Agnes Firth, while tending sheep, discovers four fresh graves, which Harding says are those of workmen accidentally killed on the island. When Mabel Jones offers to turn on the valve each day to supply water to the fishermen, Harding says: "The water is mine to give as I see fit."

VI
TOWARD the end of the week when Bea was finishing up her afternoon cleaning of the main room, she noticed the door of the tower room ajar for the first time. She did not hesitate. She pushed the door open and started inside.

Henry Harding sat at a small desk writing in a large, leather-bound notebook. Bea had time to notice the neat white cot, the case of rifles, the single hard chair, before the man whirled to face her. "Spying?" he demanded.

"You left the door open," Bea said flatly.

Harding got her outside by the simple process of walking toward her until she had to retreat. He managed a smile. "You startled me. For the time being I must ask you—and the others—to consider this tower room as exclusively my own."

"Certainly. But wouldn't it be simpler if you told us where we can and cannot go?" "It's simpler than that," Harding said. "In the future I'll be more careful of locks."

THE week ended with Bea Congrove unable to find a safer hiding place for her automatic. She knew from the rate of sugar consumption it would be weeks before it would be found by chance, and the spot was accessible.

Mrs. Warren started her week of cooking with an elaborate well-cooked breakfast. Afterwards Bea went out on the veranda where Harding was tapping the barometer gently with a lead pencil.

Bea had time to notice the room before the man whirled to face her. "Spying?" he demanded.

"Storm on the way," he said. "Perhaps the rains. It is time. The water is lower than I like. Let's see. You haven't been around the island much, have you?"

"I've barely been out of the house."

"Before we start getting ready for the wine, we'll walk down to the fishermen's camp. That's a bad shore in a blow."

They followed the trail the fishermen had taken, west and north. Scarcely out of sight of the house, Harding stopped, turned aside to the four graves with their neat crosses.

He walked directly to the flowering plant on the grave bearing the name, A. Roble, and stuck his finger in the dirt at its roots. Bea knew the plant, she had seen it receiving such loving care from the master of the Simpatico. She had lived in California long enough to know "roble" was the Spanish for oak. Harding stood up and she could see moist dirt clinging to his finger.

"Watered again," he said. "Tell me. Did you bring water to this plant?" "I didn't even know where it was. You know I haven't been away from the house long enough to explore."

He started down the trail again. Bea felt some of the freshness had left the morning breeze.

THE well-defined path led across the flat rolling back of one hill, cut sharply downward past a curiously colored cliff with alternate patches of dark and vivid rock, toward the hidden beach. Bea could see the pipeline now. Its inch diameter left the shelter of its shallow ditch, swung downward toward the beach and the shallow, saucer-shaped, eroded basin of stone.

There was a ramshackle lean-to of driftwood with tatters of canvas flapping in the strengthening wind. There was a smell of fish, and a more penetrating odor of human habitation.

Bea turned away from the water when she heard Harding swearing viciously. She joined him at the natural basin which held the daily allotment of water for the fishermen.

"The devil!" Harding sputtered. "They were supposed to let me know when they left. They've let me waste days of water."

The strong fish odor was explained as she reached his side. Four dark brown fish about 15 inches long lay side by side, half in and half out of the water. They were pegged through the laminae on the top of their heads to the scant sand. Pegged with wooden stakes with a crossbar lashed with fishline into the form of a crude cross.

Harding kicked the crosses into the pool. "The devils!" he repeated.

Carrollton Couple United In Church Ceremony May 7

Carrollton—Miss Dorothy Cronin, daughter of the late Thomas Cronin and Mrs. Rosalee Cronin of this city, became the bride of Francis Neubauer of this city, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Neubauer in a double-ring ceremony performed by the Very Rev. Michael Enright at 9 o'clock Saturday in St. John's church.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Raymond Hanlon of Sandusky, Ohio, wore a gown of white satin and marquisette. A lace bertha accented the tight-fitted bodice and the full skirt ended in a train. Her finger-tip veil was arranged from a beaded coronet and the bridal bouquet was of white roses, centered with an orchid.

The maid of honor, Miss Rosemary Cronin of St. Louis, sister of the bride, wore a gown of white organza over orchid taffeta with a head-dress corresponding in color. Another sister, Miss Phyllis Cronin of this city, was bridesmaid. Her gown was of white organza over yellow taffeta with a corresponding head-dress. Both carried bouquets of variegated sweet peas. The little flower girl, Denise Hanlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hanlon Jr. of Willow Springs, wore a white dress and carried a basket of rose petals.

Jack Bertman of this city was the best man and Michael Geers of this city, cousin of the bride groom, was the groomsmen. The ushers were Tom Cronin, brother of the bride, and Joe Carmody, both of this city.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's mother. A reception was also held at the Cronin home Saturday afternoon, after which Mr. and Mrs. Neubauer left on a short wedding trip. Upon their return they will make their home here.

O'Connor Co. Makes Bid Of $465,553 On Morgan Paving Job

Early completion of State Route 164 from a point four miles south of Jacksonville to a point east of Murrayville, connecting with finished pavement, appears assured with announcement by the Illinois Division of Highways that bids have been received and opened on the project. The apparent low bidder on the Morgan county job is the O'Connor Construction Co., of Springfield, which submitted a bid of $465,553 for the 4.66 mile strip.

The unfinished strip extends from U. S. Route 67 at the first curve south of Jacksonville, to the pavement east of Murrayville. Completion of State Route 164 to connect with U. S. Route 67 will give Jacksonville a direct paved route connection with Greenfield.

An overpass south of Woodson was completed nearly two years ago and permitted to settle before the pavement is laid.

The new route cuts the travel distance between Jacksonville and St. Louis by several miles.

Highway improvements in 21 counties were included in a bid-opening held by the state division at Springfield. The total cost of these projects is estimated at $3,656,257.

The O'Connor Construction Co., of Springfield has handled several contracts in the Jacksonville area. If the bid is approved by the state department, the contract probably will be awarded within a few weeks.

School Dist. 27 Visited By State Curriculum Group

Chapin—On Thursday, May 5, a sub-committee of the committee on the selection of centers for development of mental projects for the secondary school curriculum program visited the schools and teachers in Community Unit School District No. 27. The associate director of the curriculum program, Victor M. Houston, principal of the University High school at Illinois State Normal university and Z. H. Dorland, principal of the Streator Township High school, were present.

The committee met with all high school principals and the superintendent in the morning, visited several of the classrooms after lunch, and met with all high school teachers in the afternoon.

The state steering committee is selecting seven or eight secondary schools in Illinois to offer intensive consultation services directed toward the improvement of the total school program. To the schools selected, teams of specialists from several universities will be sent to offer their services in aiding the local teachers and board of education.

Two or three typical community unit districts will be selected, and District No. 27 has applied for approval. The local Board of Education has expressed its support and approval of this project.

Kewanee Youth To Preside At Boys' State Sessions

The Boys State governor will hold the reins until the election of the 1949 PBS chief executive, Friday, June 24. The new Boys State head will then be sworn in by Adlai Stevenson, governor of Illinois.

The PBS sessions will be held from June 19 to 26, both dates inclusive, and will again be conducted at the State Fair Grounds, Springfield, in the Junior Economics Building.

Enrollment this year, may reach the 1000 mark, according to William C. Munn, Bloomington, Illinois, Legion adjutant and treasurer of the Legion sponsored Boys State. Sponsors desiring to send a boy should contact their local American Legion commander.

Originated by the American Legion, Department of Illinois, in 1934, the Boys State program is dedicated "to educate our youth in the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities of American citizenship." It is now in operation in forty-eight states.

'Guest Day' Held By Woodson Club At Asbury Church

Chicago, May 7.—Citing the large share of property tax money farmers are paying for rural roads, Charles B. Shuman, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, today said he believed rural areas are entitled to share in gas tax funds.

"Rural property with only about one-fourth of the total assessed valuation of the state is now levying for road purposes an amount which is almost equal to the total amounts levied by the counties and cities for roads and city streets," Shuman said.

"Even this is not enough to get the farmer out of the mud, or to keep the roads in passable condition the year around for rural mail carriers and school buses. Our rural school reorganization program is being slowed up because of our bad roads," the IAA president said.

The farm organization head said that the IAA is backing proposed bills before the state legislature to increase the state gas tax from 3 to 5 cents provided township road districts are allocated 12 1/2 per cent of the tax. This allocation, he argued, is fair in view of the fact that of the 104,634 miles of road in the state, 75,853 are in township districts, and 28,781 miles of these rural roads, or 64 per cent, need improvements.

The argument advanced by some groups, Shuman said, is that farmers alone are interested in the upkeep of farm roads and therefore farmers should support them.

Used By Public
"Farmers are not the only ones interested in good rural roads," Shuman said. "They are used by the public in general. City consumers are interested in speedy deliveries of perishable foods from the farm. This is impossible without good roads."

"We also are in favor of a new program for the improvement of the state's main highways," Shuman said. "The primary road system is rapidly deteriorating and more money is needed to keep them in serviceable condition. That is another good reason why the gas tax should be increased."

But when the money from the increased gas tax is allocated, Shuman said, it should not be overlooked that township roads are part of the state public road system and must be supported by the public.
